

Sinclair
Broadcasting's
decision to force
their stations to
air an anti-Kerry
documentary days
before the election
is a clear example
of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the
public airwaves free
of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies
control the
airwaves, we get more of what's good
for the bottom line
and less of what we need for our democracy. Instead of something
produced at "News
Central" far away,
it's more important
that we see real people from our own
communities and more
substantive news
about issues that matter.

As a concerned TV
viewer I am very concerned about the
effect this crummy
video will have on
the minds of children. We should be telling the truth
and not exposing our children to such
blatent lies and law
violations.